THE CHURCH 1914

Our History

In 1914 the doors were opened on the Knox Presbyterian Church to house a congregation of 500 people. In 1970 the Knox Church congregation shifted to a new site in Pomona Street. The church was then gifted to the Pacific Island Church until 1990. Then they moved (rimu floors and all) into the adjoining hall when numbers declined, and upkeep was too great.

In November 2010, Andy and Sharyon Ralph won the tender of a derelict building full of rubble, exposed piles, butchered pulpit, and pews – it even had ferns growing inside! For 3 years Andy and Sharyon worked on the removal of rubbish, planning, demolition, and obtaining consent in preparation for building. The renovation commenced with the vision of a luxury bed and breakfast.

The Church 1914 holds tours. Bring in your colleagues or family and friends, choose from a range of delicious home-made foods, enjoy hot beverages or a glass of wine/beer/low alcohol/alcohol free, sit under the 9.5m high original pressed tin ceiling while viewing photographic progress on their TV. Your hosts will share their story of the 11-year renovation, the history, and the highs and lows they experienced. Questions are welcomed! Your guided tour covers the 3 floors with the accompanying stories and facts. This unique experience is 3 hours in length.

The Church 1914 appreciates and welcomes your enquiry and would be honoured to be part of creating lasting memories for you at the beautifully renovated venue.
